[Image] Promising review: &quot;I absolutely love this sweater! It's very well-made and the colors are just as pictured.

A tiered knit cardigan for a soft, lightweight option for the colder months ahead.

[Image] Promising review: &quot;I bought two of these joggers for the colder weather.

I love them! The quality is great, and they look just like the picture.

They're soft and cozy.

A longline dress with pockets that'll add a little extra warmth to your outfit.

A striped sweater with a tie that I am definitely gonna be wearing every day.

Example of a viral TikTok video showing Nathan Apodaca drinking a bottle of cranberry juice.-- Nathan Apodaca went viral when he posted this TikTok video skating to work while drinking cranberry juice and singing along to Fleetwood Mac.

If you already have a following, TikTok has built-in ways for you to make money from your content. Most people, however, don't want to wait to build a following before they can start making money. Luckily there are new ways to make extra income on TikTok, even if you start with no followers at all.

TikTok have a built-in way for you to make money on their social media platform.

They call it the Creator Fund, and it exists to support talent and creators on TikTok. You don't need to create any particular type of content, or even have ads on your account - TikTok will pay you for creating the content your audience already enjoys.

Sell products on TikTok

Students Kas and Seb set up their brand, Deguise, using the Teemill platform.

. They grew it into a real business venture by making viral content on TikTok. One of their videos got 350 thousand views and kickstarted their business. Talk about inspirational!

Finding a niche for your online business is extremely important if you want to succeed. Because, as anyone in marketing will tell you, it's much easier to guide people to something they want, rather than trying to sell them something they don't.
