The moneyline shows how much money you will win if your bet pays off. The average over/under in the NFL is between 35 and 47 points. Therefore, if you win this wager, you will receive $21, or in other words, make back your $11 and win $10.

Moneyline Bets Moneyline bets are the most simple type of football bet. This means that this is an all-or-nothing bet.

The only exception to this rule is if one of your picks pushes.

While risky, parlay bets can be a fun way to earn a potential payout without risking a lot of money.

Quarter bets follow the same principle but are only based on a single quarter of the game.

Click Add Dates.

If the event is more than one day, check the days of the week where time slots are needed.

A stylish pair of high-waisted leggings you can layer over a tank and lounge around the house, or pair with an oversized turtleneck and sneakers for a chic look.

[Image] Promising review: "These leggings are very comfy and cute.

[Image] Promising review: "I bought this cardigan as a gift for a friend who loves to wear cardigans, and this is just what she wanted.

It's thick and soft, but not too thin.

The color is vibrant, and the quality is great.

It's the perfect length, and fits true to size.
