The origins of the card game are debatable, but most believe it was created in the 1400s by a man named Felix Falguiere or Felix Falguiere.

He called the game "baccara", which translates to "zero", as all tens and face cards were valued at zero (the French spelling "baccara") Tj T* BT /F

In today's game there is one dealer, bets are typically placed against the house, and the house also fills in the banker role.

From Italy, baccarat travelled to France, where it was known as Chemin de Fer, or "Chemmy".

King Charles VIII and his noblemen loved the game, and Chemin de Fer remained a hit with the French aristocracy for centuries.

In the late 1950s, Tommy Renzoni shipped the game over to the Sands casino in Las Vegas, and the rest, as we say, is history.

Baccarat may have not caught on with the public the same way games like real money roulette and blackjack have, but it still enjoys an air of exclusivity and prestige with many casino goers.
